

2014 - The Winners

We're incredibly proud to announce the winners of the third Kantar Information is Beautiful Awards!

Thanks to everyone who spent time cogitating, digesting and deliberating on what has been a truly bumper crop of data viz.

And congratulations to our winners.

Now delve in!

Data Visualization

Gold - Rappers, Sorted by Size of Vocabulary by Matthew Daniels

Silver - Weather Radials Poster by Timm Kekeritz

Bronze - The Depth of the Problem by The Washington Post

Special mention - The Analytical Tourism Map of Piedmont by Marco Bernardi, Federica Fragapane and Francesco Majno

Infographic

Gold - Creative Routines by RJ Andrews

Silver - Game of Thrones Decoded by Heather Jones

Bronze - The Graphic Continuum by Jonathan Schwabish and Severino Ribecca

Interactive

Gold - The Refugee Project by Hyperakt and Ekene Ijeoma

Silver - How Americans Die by Bloomberg Visual Data

Joint Bronze - Commonwealth War Dead: First World War Visualisedby James Offer

Joint Bronze - World Food Clock by Luke Twyman

Motion infographic

Gold - NYC Taxis: A Day in the Life by Chris Whong

Silver - Beyond Bytes by Maral Pourkazemi

Bronze - Everything You Need to Know about Planet Earth by Kurzgesagt

Special mention - Energy by Adam Nieman

Website

Gold - Selfiecity by Moritz Stefaner

Silver - OECD Regional Well-Being by Moritz Stefaner

Bronze - After Babylon by Sofia Girelli, Eleonora Grotto, Pietro Lodi, Daniele Lupatini and Emilio Patuzzo

Tool

Gold - RAW by Density Design Research Lab

Silver - Kennedy by Brendan Dawes

Bronze - Figure it Out by Friedrich Riha

Student

Sam Slover, Wrap Genius

Individual

Brendan Dawes, Kennedy

Studio

FFunction, Women in Science and HP What Matters

Corporate

Schwandt Infographics, Biobased Economy

Community

The Rite of Spring by Stephen Malinowski and Jay Bacal

Most Beautiful

RAW by Density Design Research Lab

POSTED IN AWARDS — OVER 3 YEARS AGO