

Kantar Information is Beautiful Awards 2014

Welcome to the 2014 Kantar Information is Beautiful Awards.

We've worked hard to simplify the entry process, making it easier for you to show us the amazing dataviz you've been working on.

We've got a hefty prize fund and a slew of the finest judging talent in the creative world (to be announced soon!)

Before you click on the enter box below, please take the time to check out the detailed entry information and the awards T&Cs.

Good luck!

- Entry Details Deadline 1.9.2014
- The Long List 6.10.2014
- The Short List 13.10.2014
- Winners 12.11.2014
-

01. How to Enter

There are six categories to enter work into:

- - Data Visualization
- - Infographic
- - Interactive Visualization
- - Motion Infographic
- - Tool
- - Website

Each entry must be a single piece of work as we do not accept series. If you have done a series and want to enter them all as individuals, you must complete a new entry for each single design.

All shortlisted entrants will be invited to a rather nice party in London, England in November to find out who the winners are.

Before you enter have a look at the following check list:

- - Have a working web link and/or image file ready to upload
- - Full name credits
- - Description of work, maximum 500 words
- - Tags
- - Payment details (via PayPal)

Format specifications

If you are submitting a URL please ensure that it will be live until at least November 12th when the awards ceremony is hosted in london.

Web work should be at least 1024 pixels wide at a minimum of 72dpi. Everything else should ideally be 2048px wide at 300dpi.

Costs

$10 per entry for students

$20 per entry for individuals

$75 per entry for corporates/design agencies

Deadline

The deadline for entries is midnight on Monday 1st September 2014, GMT.

Click here to review the terms and conditions of entry.

-

02. More details on entering

Judges

David McCandless, Information is Beautiful

Aziz Cami, Kantar

with more names to be confirmed.

Our panel of esteemed judges will draw up a longlist for each category which will then be published online. Then the judges will whittle it down further to a shortlist. The shortlisted work will be showcased on the awards site and you, the dataviz community, will be asked to vote on your favorite piece of work in each category. Your votes and the votes of our judges will then decide who is crowned in glory and crowned the winners!

Timeline

July 9 2014 – Awards open for entries

Sept 1 2014 – Deadline for entry submissions

October 6 2014 – Awards jury publish the category long lists

October 13 2014 – Awards jury publish the shortlists for each category online. The online community can then vote for their favourite entries on the awards website

November 12 2014 – Winners are announced at an awards ceremony in London

Foreign language

If your entry is in another language please submit the original foreign language entry and send us a translation via email to editor@informationisbeautifulawards.com, making sure to include your name and entry details.

Eligibility

There is no date limitation for when work was created. Work that was entered into the awards in 2012 or 2013 cannot be re-entered this year.

Judging criteria

Submitted pieces will be based on the following criteria:

- - Is it appropriate?
- - Does it achieve its objectives?
- - Is it original?
- - Is it beautiful?

-

03. Prize money

We award a bronze, silver and gold prize in each category:

- Bronze – $250
- Silver – $500
- Gold – $1,000

Special awards

- Studio Award – $2,000
- Best Individual Contribution Award – $2,000

- Student Award – $2,000
 - Corporate Award – $2,000
 - Peoples Vote Award – $2,000
 - Most Beautiful Award – $5,000
-

04. Help

Confused, baffled, not sure which category to enter... get in touch with us and we'll do our very best to help - editor@informationisbeautifulawards.com.